

The Donts of I Do: A Wedding Officiants View of the Ceremony

Couples spend thousands of dollars creating their own special theme, colors, flower arrangements, dresses and more. Yet many, not knowing there are options, will get married with a cookie cutter ceremony without personalization beyond the names of the parties. The ceremony is the heart and soul of the day. Wedding officiant, Ann White, offers her ideas and suggestions gleaned from a decade of creating ceremonies that capture a couples love story and help couples avoid common ceremony pitfalls. A must read for any engaged couple wanting to create beautiful memories of their wedding day.
